Dear Mr. Mocek:

The Washington State Patrol has completed the third and final installment of records responsive to your public disclosure request for:

"Memoranda of understanding (MOU's) regarding information sharing (the exchange of physical, analog, and digital data both public and non-public, gathered through Washington State Patrol resources and activities, regardless of transmission method) between Washington State Patrol and other entities (e.g., private businesses, trade associations, other police departments, fusion centers, federal agencies, etc.) and any agreements, binding or non-binding, to enter into or join groups, networks, or engage services providing information sharing of the same type. Information sharing in this context pertains to discreet information gathered about the public by the resources of the Washington State Patrol, not to information gathered internally about the Washington State Patrol for its own organizational, regulatory, or administrative reasons, and not to amalgamated statistical data provided to accredited academic entities for research purposes. Please narrow my request to include only otherwise-responsive MOUs that either A) are still effective, or B) expired within the past two years. At this time, I am not specifically interested in those that expired more than two years ago."

Please refer to the enclosed redaction log for identification of information that has been redacted from these records.

If you have questions, please contact me at Gretchen.dolan@wsp.wa.gov, or (360) 596-4137 in reference to PD-13-1055-0073 and/or PD-13-1055-0144.

Sincerely,
